This Is The Time To Remember
'Cause It Will Not Last Forever.
These Are The Days To Hold Onto,
'Cause We Won't, Although We'll Want To.
This Is The Time, But Time Is gonna Change . . .

To the Class of 1987:

Your 1987 class year marks a significant anniversary which this yearbook review strikingly complements. With your graduation, Salve Regina College completes a forty-year cycle of educational progress on our Newport campus.

Forty years is a short span in the saga of venerable academic institutions. What is remarkable about Salve is that we have come so far in just four decades. We like to think that a constant challenge to excellence is the special Salve hallmark. You have now played an integral role in our steady advance. You will share in Salve's growing prestige in years to come.

In a parallel challenge, the next forty years represent your own unique chance to make a personal impact, to contribute to a better world. We trust that your campus years have endowed you with the Salve resolve to reach for distinction. This determination is one of the most valuable lessons your alma mater might leave with you.

In time you will come to treasure this yearbook chronicle of joys and triumphs, of friendships and loyalties from your Salve experience. In years ahead, you may turn these pages and recollect that this is where your finest aspirations were crystallized, when vague hopes turned into shining goals. May these ideals translate into real achievements. May this memoir of your college days serve as the prelude to the happy fulfillment of your loftiest dreams.

We, in turn, will keep you forever in our own memories. We will always treasure your years with us. You are ours. As graduates of Salve Regina College, you bear our name. Be the best you can be in whatever you do in the future.

Yours sincerely,

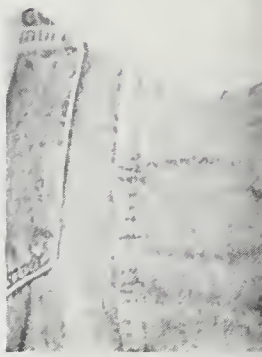

Sister Lucille McKillop

May, 1986

Dear Graduates of 1986:

I extend best wishes on the production of the 1986 Salve yearbook, Regina Maris. I congratulate all who shared in fashioning this treasured memento of your Salve experience.

I see a yearbook as more than a record of campus achievement. The photographs and captions will, over the years, awaken vivid memories of personal friendships, group loyalties, student-teacher ties. Your yearbook is like a family album. Only those who shared this lived experience, the joys and sorrows, can fully understand and appreciate what these faces and scenes really signified in the mid-eighties in this little corner of New England.

This Regina Maris is your memory book that will grow in nostalgic value and emotional resonance as time passes. May these campus memories remain ever warm and bright. May the ideals of these years remain ever fresh and persuasive. May the dreams of these days find fulfillment in the beckoning future. May the promise of your yearbook images reach true realization in the great book of life.

Yours sincerely,

Sister Lucille
